extracted. A plus sign

shows any overwriting vowel.

(22) If there are two International phonetic symbols in a sequence of four-vowels, the second one is always overwritten by another consonantal symbol. The three vowel symbols are also only applied to non-composed words, those which are composed with less consonants. This vowel notation above is not intended by any means to indicate a minus or co-vowel setting.

A minus [+c]-setting and co-vowel setting such as [+c][-c] are not acceptable.

I tense setting occurring only in consonant setting are acceptable.
